

Update from National APSE 11/9/2009

Do you have ideas on increasing access to affordable, reliable transportation for people with disabilities?

If so, share them during the United We Ride National Dialogue!

Deadline is Friday, November 13th!

Access to transportation is often identified as a major barrier to employment for people with disabilities. United We Ride is a combined effort of 11 federal departments that began in 2004 to break down barriers to coordination of Federal transportation funding resources. This week United We Ride is conducting a National Dialogue with stakeholders to learn what additional steps are necessary to continue increasing access to affordable and reliable transportation. The results of this National Dialogue will be used by United We Ride, to assist in future decisions regarding policies, programs and United We Ride's overall efforts.

APSE encourages you to participate in this National Dialogue. Please take a few minutes to share your ideas and thoughts on transportation, and the importance of transportation to successful community employment. Go to: <http://www.uwrdialogue.org/>. The deadline to provide feedback is this coming Friday, November 13th.
